

LOVE takes flight

LOVE Takes Flight is a program built to successfully transition teens from life in the orphanage to be contributing members of the community. It empowers the children from La Concorde to have a sustainable future.

The program begins while the children are still living at the orphanage with classes created to prepare them for living on their own. These classes include subjects such as personal hygiene, money management, and career options. We also work closely with the students at this time to determine the best road for them to take-- university or trade school, entrepreneurial endeavors, or an apprenticeship.

The next step is to move the teens to independent living where they will be under the guidance of a Haitian adult along with the support from mentors and sponsors. Here they will put to use the skills learned in the prep classes.

We are so proud to share the LOVE Takes Flight program with you. Our teens have successfully launched a chicken business, soap business, store front to sell things like cold beverages, tailoring shop, and a graphic tee design shop.

Our goal is to raise $10,000 to support these young entrepreneurs in their journey including housing expenses, transportation, business start-up costs, and continuing education grants for those who wish to continue their education before pursuing a career.
